Traditional Routine Competition Rules 201H

Judging Principles.

Entries.

In the pursuit of fairness, competitors will be judged equally on the quality of their performance on the day. They will not be discriminated against because of the style that they are practising i.e. any style should be able to win.

Entries will be accepted from members of all groups who have returned the 'traditional' registration form and subsequently been notified of their acceptance. Entry by others will be entirely at the discretion of the chief referee.

All routines entered will be judged equally according to the criteria listed below, irrespective of how old the routine is. (This marks a change in criteria for acceptance, the 'pre 1950' rule has now been waved by the 2008 judges meeting). Routines which are very obviously a long way from being traditional, eg modern wushu competition routines, will still not be accepted.

Routines entered into the wrong category will not be marked.

Dishonesty when submitting details will result in a group being struck off this list and not being accepted for future competitions.

Formation of judging panel:

- If possible, all judges will be from different clubs.
- There will be five judges (if available), the highest and lowest scores will be discounted, the remaining scores will be averaged to find a final score.
- The head judge will supervise the judges and apply deductions but will not score.
- Judges displaying bias or gross incompetence will be replaced.

Judges will be appointed by the chief referee. The composition of a judging panel will not be changed until a category has finished.

Appeals / complaints:

These will be dealt with according to the BCCMA appeals procedures as detailed in the competition pack.

Feedback for competitors:

Due to time considerations, judges will not be obliged to give feedback but may do so if they wish.

Weapons:

Weapon inspections will take place before weapon categories begin.

Bladed weapons should be of sufficiently rigid construction that, when the weight of the weapon, unsupported, is placed on the blade it does not bend significantly (ie noticeably).

Competitors will have the option of replacing their weapon and thus still being able to compete with no penalty.

Weapons deemed too dangerous will not be allowed.

An appropriate weapon should be used – eg performing a knife routine with a sword will not be acceptable.

Competition categories:

Beginner under 2 years training, intermediate under 5 years training, advanced over 5 years. This refers to how long someone has been with the style / association, not how long they have known a particular routine.

Unfortunately, a category with less than 3 competitors will have to be combined with another.

Time limits:

Maximum time allowed – 8 minutes.

If a routine is likely to exceed 5 minutes, please inform judges before commencing.

Jewellery:

In the event that the judges consider that a competitor's jewellery poses a health and safety risk, they will require that it be removed.

An inappropriate amount of jewellery will result in loss of marks.

Dress Code:

Competitors should wear either their club uniform, which should conform to a broadly 'Chinese Martial Arts' style, or one of the commercially available Chinese martial arts uniforms. Appropriate shoes should be worn. Failure to adhere to these guidelines will be dealt with under criterion 10 'etiquette and dress'.
